For general discussion, please explain your product line and describe exactly what you were looking for in a leather sewing machine and in other leather crafting equipment.

I am gunsmith who works on, repairs and creates custom leather pieces. My primary focus is on the creation of leather knife sheaths and re-enactment gear.

My interests vary greatly, but my main concentrations are in the following areas.

- Carving and engraving leather
- Carving and engraving wood
- I also experiment quite a bit with carving and engraving in other types of materials.

My background is in machinery and equipment. I am very curious as to how things work and how one piece of machinery compares to the next.

What led you to the Tippmann Boss for your leather crafting equipment needs?

I needed a machine which was foremost reliable, and allowed me to sew stitch by stitch in order to maintain the precision quality and control that you would see if sewing by hand. The "BOSS" is a wonderful little machine and it works well in conjunction with my other powered equipment. This machine allows me the versatility of being able to roll it out onto the patio and from place to place, due to the compact nature of the product.

What type of machine ('s) were you using prior to using the Tippmann?

I have many other machines and types of equipment for sewing, cutting etc.

Do you have any other items in the Tippmann Line?

I own the Tippmann Embosser, which I use for embossing and strap cutting. This is a handy little machine and offers a great deal of versatility.

Custom leather crafting tips from Jack Ott.

- The most important thing in leather crafting is patience. Make sure to take your time and go slow, to get the result You are looking for. People are looking for one of kind, unique items, things that you can't find anywhere else.
- When sewing leather, make sure that your needles are free from burs. Make sure to always clean your needle and the eye of the needle before you begin sewing.
- Visualize what your final piece is going to look like, before you start the project.
- Try to price your product where people can afford them....You can build the most wonderful doo dad in the world, but if people can't afford it, it does not do any good to build it and try to sell it.

Needle Thread Guide

If you are having problems deciding what size thread and/or needle, we have added a new feature to the website, the Needle and Thread size guide. The Needle and Thread guide can help you select the correct needle for your desired thread, help you decide what thread size is right for your project, guide you to find the correct style of needle, and more.
